

PRESS RELEASE

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Media Contact

Chandra Price, Creative Director
news@linktoexpert.com

LINK TO EXPERT PARTNERS WITH SIX DISCIPLINES

Business leaders couple Internet technology with strategies for long-term success

October 8, 2009 (SAFETY HARBOR, FL): Link to Expert proudly announces that its Web portal offering professionals an exclusive, global destination for business collaborations, www.linktoexpert.com, has partnered with Six Disciplines Tampa, a licensed team of coaches offering strategic advisory services. The partnership will promote an expanded network reach for coaches, executives, and industry experts alike.

Six Disciplines operates a growing network of independently owned and operated professional business coaching organizations across the nation. The president of Six Disciplines Tampa, Sean Burke, has collaborated with Link to Expert to promote and uphold his company's mission to support businesses in growing their ability to deal with an increasingly challenging business environment. He and his team combine systematic business-building methodology, practical Internet technologies, and strategy-execution services to help top-performing businesses to learn, lead, and last.

"Six Disciplines is excited to partner with Link to Expert because the relationship extends our reach into a broader market of professional coaches and consultants," said Burke, a certified Six Disciplines coach and strategic advisor. "The partnership will help us grow our network of certified coaches and will enable us to reach more companies who are looking for a solution to help them more consistently execute on all phases of their business."

With global headquarters based in Safety Harbor, Link to Expert is uniquely positioned to provide the entire Six Disciplines network an additional platform to display their skills and to share valuable information with fellow industry leaders and clients via a Web 2.0 platform. Link to Expert's on-line promotional tools and multi-media resources will allow Six Disciplines coaches and their executive clients to quickly address business challenges.

"Much like Link to Expert, Six Disciplines educates organizations on the greatest core competency of all, which is how to consistently and repeatedly balance both strategy and execution," said Joanne Weiland, chief connections officer for Link to Expert. "We will encourage our coaches and consultants to consider becoming an authorized Six Disciplines coach to offer their clients a systematic approach to achieving their long-term goals."

About Six Disciplines: Six Disciplines Corporation, with headquarters in Findlay, OH, was founded in 2001, with the mission of helping organizations to get better - and stay better - with less stress and more fun. Six Disciplines is offered exclusively through a growing, nationwide network of licensed Six Disciplines centers. In 2006, Burke launched operations of the Six Disciplines Tampa, which services clients throughout Florida. For more information about Six Disciplines Tampa, visit www.sixdisciplines.com/tampa, call 813-569-5709, or e-mail Sean Burke at sburke@sixdisciplines.com.

About Link to Expert: Launched in 2008, Link to Expert is the respected source for executives and project managers to locate elite experts who can help them implement ideas and be the first to market. Coaches, consultants, speakers, event professionals, vendors, and trainers have all joined the Link to Expert community to expand their market globally and to express their uniqueness via their own Web 2.0 presence. The portal's leading-edge components include video, HTML email templates, email list builder, email auto-responder, multiple blogs, open forums, online stores, podcasts, photos, and timesaving back office capabilities for members. Link to Expert also sends email blasts and posts on social media websites to promote its member news and updates to thousands of professionals. For more information about joining Link to Expert, please visit www.linktoexpert.com, call 727-791-7338, or email info@linktoexpert.com.

###